Afternoon tea is a light meal composed of -three course of tea sandwiches and savories,

-followed by scones with clotted cream and jam,

-ending with sweet pastries.

Everything is bite-sized and eaten with fingers.

High tea consists of hearty dishes:

- meat dishes,
- potatoes
- baked beans
- tarts and salads, jam

AFTERNOON TEA or HIGH TEA ??

TEA time is around 4PM

It started out in the 1840s when The Duchess of Bedford wanted a small bite between lunch and dinner.

It was meant to nourish
after a long day at work.

TEA time is around 5PM – 7PM

It is also called 'low tea'
since they were enjoyed on low tables with comfortable chairs and sofas in the drawing room.

“Take some more tea,” the March Hare said to Alice, very earnestly.

“I’ve had nothing yet,” Alice replied in an offended tone: “so I can’t take more.”

“You mean you can’t take less,” said the Hatter:

—Chapter 7, A Mad Tea-Party

UNDER certain circumstances there are few hours in life more agreeable than the hour dedicated to the ceremony known as afternoon tea. There are circumstances in which, whether you partake of the tea or not—some people of course never do—the situation is in itself delightful. Those that I have in mind in beginning to unfold this simple history offered an admirable setting to an innocent pastime.

NOVELTEA TINS

Good books deserve good tea

This tin and tea provide for an exquisitely deceptive and Wildely elegant experience for any new collector. Organic jasmine green tea and a rose-blended bergamot radiate hedonism and reflect your eternal beauty as you sip.

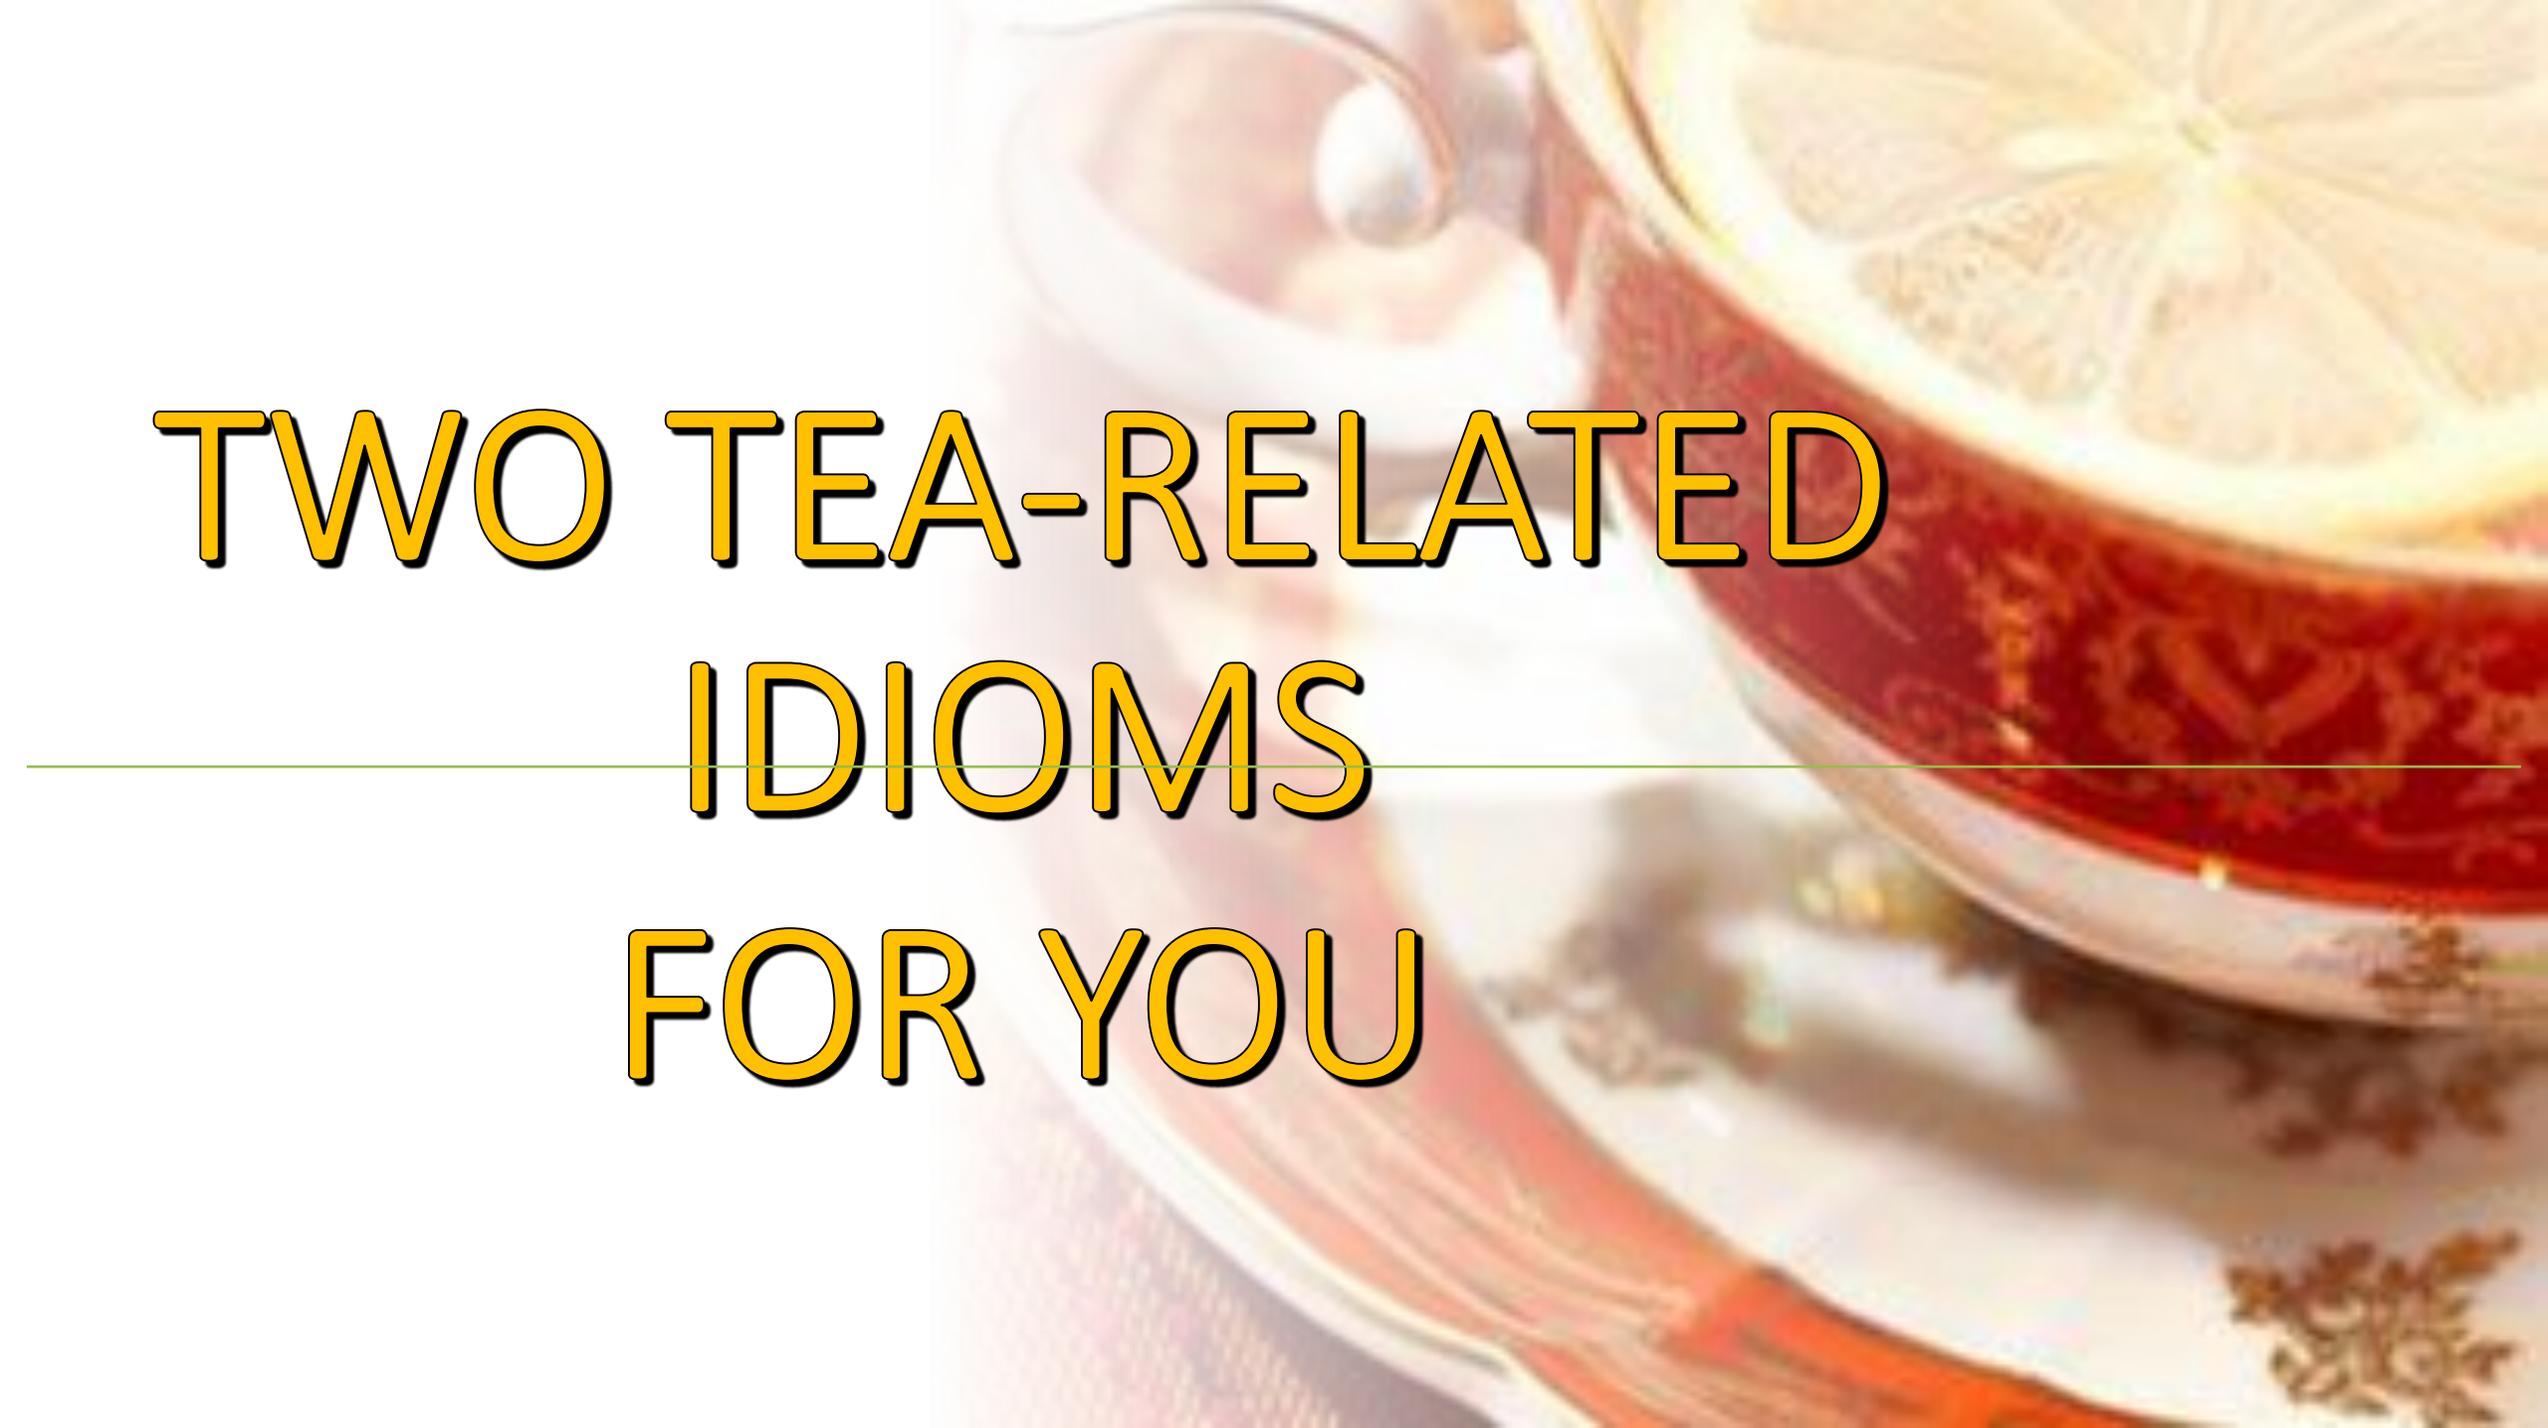

Jane Austen was a humorist, social commentator, feminist, and brilliant novelist.

Knowing these things, we arrived at her grandest threshold Pride and Prejudice (Pemberley) with an offering of Pride and Peppermint to match the courage and intelligent charm of Austen's Elizabeth Bennet.

Thanks to the input of hundreds of Austenites worldwide, we captured many of the quintessential traits of an Austen novel.
